

FERRO FORTIS piscis

Impressive mobile installations made of metal or as we call it 'Ferro Fortis'. This is a collaboration between Maarten van Halderen of Creatief met Staal and Theatre Company TukkersConnexion. It's a solid example of metalworking in combination with theatre. Maarten is a real iron eater, someone who seeks for the challenge and the endless boundaries of the raw material and uses it to create impressive works of art. The actors of TukkersConnexion bring these objects to life and add an element of magic and imagination to each scene. With Ferro Fortis they step back through the industrial age into the iron age and set instinct and that primal feeling in motion.

Aquila is an immense eagle with a wingspan of about 5 meters. He makes realistic movements and observes the audience from a height.

Piscis is a monstrosously fat fish with an imposing mouth and a cunning glance. Full of bones and 100% cold blooded.
