

PULL-THAT-STRING

Experience that guilty pleasure feeling from the early days at the fairground with 'Pull-that-String'! Prize every time. Antje, Meindert and Kees, the owners of this fairground stall, will introduce the audience to their Aunt Beth. As aunt Beth was their great example and, of course, their favorite aunty. There was fairground blood running through her veins. As she moved from region to region with her attraction she used her big nose for treasure hunting. She could not resist collecting and she became more and more richly surrounded by exclusive thingy's. For sure; Aunt Beth was a collector's item herself! When Beth crossed the rainbow bridge, she left everything to her relatives. The legacy of this unique woman did not only consist 500 meters of rope... Step into the world of Aunt Beth. Choose a rope and pull that prize. What prize might be there for you? A super prize or knick-knacks? One thing is for sure, the price will always be unique. Exactly as Aunt Beth would have wished for. Who's in it, to win it?
